

Radiology Techniques Student Showcases Talent in Decorative Art

Among the talented students of the Department of Radiology Techniques, Maryam Luay Zaki stands out for her remarkable talent in decorative art. Through her creative artwork, she has demonstrated exceptional artistic taste, precision, and creativity in design.

Her achievement reflects the diverse abilities of the department's students, highlighting that their excellence extends beyond academic performance to include artistic and creative skills that contribute to personal development and innovation.

The Department of Radiology Techniques wishes Maryam Luay Zaki continued success and encourages her to further develop her artistic talent, proudly representing the department within and beyond the university.

